DETAILED ACTION

Prosecution on the merits is hereby re-opened in view of the newly added claim rejections set forth below.

Applicants' response, filed 13 September 2006, has been fully considered. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objections are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

The amendments filed 13 September 2006 are hereby entered.

Claims 28-54 are currently pending. Claims 1-27 have been cancelled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 41-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 41 and 45 are directed to a method of evaluating results for a bioassay that generates mass spectral data, which does not recite either a physical transformation of matter nor a practical application [i.e. concrete, tangible, and useful result]. Instant claims 41 and 45 recite steps comprising providing a location and comparing a test centroid. No description or definition for "providing" data or "comparing" centroids is provided in the Specification such that these would be interpreted as a physical steps, therefore the claimed method steps do not result in a physical transformation of matter. Where a claimed method does not result in a physical transformation of matter, it may be statutory where it recites a concrete, tangible, and useful result (i.e. a practical application). However, no actual, concrete result is recited in the claims, nor is any useful result "produced" in a tangible form useful to one skilled in the art.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 28-54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. This is a new matter rejection.

Claims 28, 36, 40, 41, 45, 49, and 51, as amended, recite "model centroid". However, upon evaluation of the specification, there is lack of support for disclosure of said "model centroid". The specification, rather, provides support for a "biochip model" in which spectra are mapped to the biochip model by determining the spectrum value for the n mass to charge ratios in the biochip mode. The centroid is defined as the center of the cluster determined to have the highest population of vectors from the model development. Therefore, it is the model that has the centroid to which is compared the vectors in n dimensional space and not a "model centroid" as instantly claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 41 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 41, as amended, recites “a quality control method” comprising, “providing a location” and “comparing the at least one test centroid”. However, it is unclear as to what is being evaluated. What relationship does comparing the test centroid have to “evaluating results”? Clarification is requested.

No claims are allowed.

The outstanding rejection under 35 USC for lack of enablement is withdrawn in view of Applicant's amendments to the claims.
